OFFICIAL AIRS VIEWS ON DEMONSTRATORS

Beat 5 Supervisor Discusses Attitude of Self and Colleagues on Matter of Extension Work. Mentions Hiring Road Commissioners.

Editor Sentinel:

I gladly accept your invitation to write explaining my attitude (and, I think, my attitude is similar to that of two of my colleagues) about the demonstration question. Quite a bit has been written by interested citizens, and quite a bit by yourself; but nothing by any supervisor.

No one denies that there was an election called on the question and that a majority of those voting were favorable to the retention of the agents.

No one can, with reason, deny that the choice of the individuals who are to act as Agents rests with the board of supervisors. The board, in the exercise of this duty, did not see fit to retain the two individuals who served the county last year.

Further, no one, with reason, can deny that it is the board's duty to fix the salaries. The board did fix a salary of $1200.00 per annum for each Agent which, added to the $1000.00 paid by the government, aggregates $2200.00—which the board thought reasonable, and continues to think reasonable.

The board, after fixing the salaries, took a recess until the next Saturday for the purpose of receiving and acting upon applications for the positions. No applicants appeared.

Certainly, the board has done all it can except raise the proposed salaries to an enormous extent. The board seems determined not to raise the proposed salaries one penny. So it looks as if we poor farmers will have to grope along through the darkness without the beneficent light of demonstration to lead, guide and direct us.

Please, Mr. Editor, understand, that when I write "board", I mean the majority of the board; and, further, that this is being written on my own responsibility, even though I believe that in a halting way, it expresses the views of two other members.

There is a lot of politics in the situation, in my opinion. Deep down in my heart, I believe that some of the most rabid advocates of demonstration work have no more real interest in demonstration work than a hog has in the use of Heaven, but, in the guise of fervor and zeal in the work, are only grasping opportunities of throwing chunks in the way of some political enemy on the board. I am persuaded that there are many however, who are sincere in their belief that the board should offer more money. The latter are entitled to the highest consideration and the most sincere respect; and the former are entitled to whatever comfort they can get out of the situation.

May I digress from the demonstrators long enough to tell about the road commissioners? I hear frequently folks say "what's the use of road commissioners; why don't you get rid of them?", etc. Any lawyer will verify my statement that the law makes it imperative that one or more road commissioners be employed in each separate road district. It is not left to the discretion of the board except as to the individuals who are appointed. The offices (Continued on page 4)

Baptist Minister Describes Journey

Rev. W. E. Farr Gives Interesting Account of Trip through Great Northwest Section. Tells of Goat Leading Sheep to Slaughter.

Editor Sentinel:

On Monday, Feb. 25th, we were joined by Rev. Norris Palmer at Memphis and left on No. 2 for Chicago, reaching there early that night. Next morning when we got up our train was making rapid time through the state of Iowa. We arrived at Sioux Falls, S. D. Tuesday evening at 7:30. As we passed through Iowa we saw snow from one to ten feet deep for the first time. The fact is we were much charmed with the snow at first, but from Monday night until the following Friday afternoon at about two o'clock we never did see the ground. It was snow, snow and snow some more.

Iowa is almost a level state—it reminded me in many ways of our delta. It is a great corn country. As our train passed on through the state we saw hundreds of cattle wading in snow and eating the tops of corn stalks; in fact that was about all they had to eat. Many of the concrete highways were so deeply covered with snow they had to be abandoned. For the first time it was my privilege to see snow plows at work clearing the tracks and also the highways. It was interesting also to see men with picks, shovels and ships (Continued on page 4)

OVERALL MAKERS SEND SECOND CONTRACT HERE

Several features of the contract prepared and forwarded to the overall makers desiring to locate in Grenada apparently were not satisfactory to the manufacturers for they have drawn up a second contract which is now under consideration by local business men who have subscribed to stock in the enterprise. Therefore it may be some days before any definite announcement can be made about the transaction.

Farm Organization Employs W. C. Curle

Holcomb Man Succeeds H. C. Hampton as Field Man for Grenada County Farm Development Association. Employed for Two Months.

A meeting of the executive committee of the farm development association of Grenada County was held in the directors' room of the Grenada Bank on Tuesday of this week at which time the work of the association was briefly reviewed and its financial status rather freely discussed.

Announcement was made that Mr. H. C. Hampton, who had been the general utility man since shortly after the organization of the association, had resigned and that he had not been on duty since March 1. Negotiations had been had with Mr. Clifford Curle of the Holcomb community to take up the work Mr. Hampton had been doing. After much discussion, Mr. Curle was employed for two months at a salary of $200. per month, and the hope was expressed that it would be found expedient to retain him even longer. Mr. Curle is a successful farmer and appears to have done well in the dairying business.

It is stated that Mr. Curle is to make an early check up on all who were financed in any way by the association and to report as to what care they are taking of the milk cows, the barns which have been built to care for the cows, and as to how the different farmers are succeeding in a financial way in dairying. It was suggested that the board of supervisors of the county might be induced to cooperate with the farm development association by paying a part of his salary as is being done, so it was stated, in some other counties of the state.

It was the consensus of opinion that there could not be any turning back now, and that the town, the county and the surrounding territory needed more than ever just what the association aimed to accomplish.

The leading business factors of the county—and they are as vitally, if not more so interested in the further work of the association as any one else—will doubtless be interviewed within the next few weeks as to making the activities of the association continue for another year or longer.

MALE QUARTET ENTERTAINS Rotary Club Hears Program of Negro Spirituals

A male quartet, composed of W. D. Boone, R. L. McLeod, Jr., W. V. Dubard and J. H. Biddy, entertained the members of the Grenada Rotary Club at their luncheon Tuesday with the rendition of several negro spirituals to an accompaniment at the piano by Mrs. E. G. Mohler. The program was highly enjoyed by everyone present and all are looking forward with great deal of pleasure to another such entertainment.

President Andrew Carothers expressed the pleasure of the club over the return from the hospital last Saturday of Rotarian A. W. George after an operation and its pleasure also that Rotarian J. B. Horn's wife is improving after an operation. Both Mr. George and Mr. Horn, who have necessarily missed several meetings, were present Tuesday.

S. H. Horton, chairman of the committee circulating the petitions for the change in Grenada's telephone system, reported that only five of 230 telephone subscribers seen had refused to sign. He said that 574 were to be seen altogether and he requested that the president name several others to assist him in completing the work. The president delegated Mr. Horton to choose his own helpers and he urged those called upon to aid the committee chairman.

President Carothers announced that next Tuesday the club would elect its delegates to the district conference to be held in Clarksdale March 26 and 27 and that a vote would be taken to see whom the club should support for district governor. Grenada is allowed two voting delegates at the conference.

Several stated at roll call that they expected to attend the international convention in Dallas, Texas, the last week in May.

W. C. Curle, of Holcomb, and Rotarian Nelson Taylor, of Greenwood, were guests at the Tuesday luncheon.

Japanese flowering cherry trees were first brought to the United States in 1862.

PREACHER'S MEMORY HONORED BY CHURCH

Methodists Hold Memorial Service Sunday Evening for Late Rev. R. A. Tucker. Ministers and Laymen Voke Tributes to Deceased.

Memorial services were held at the Methodist church in Grenada Sunday night, last, in honor of the memory of Rev. R. A. Tucker, whose death took place two weeks before.

Mr. Tucker served the Grenada church four years as pastor after having served the district four years as presiding elder. He was then sent to Greenwood to be pastor of the First church there. The district was reorganized and the Bishop returned him to Grenada as presiding elder again. He had many warm, personal friends in Grenada, many of them being outside of his own church.

Rev. J. H. Holder, the pastor, read an appropriate Scripture lesson, then spoke most feelingly of his relationship with Mr. Tucker and what he had meant to the church and to communities where he had served as pastor. Mr. Holder was followed by Dr. J. R. Countiss, who was as close to Mr. Tucker as any man in the church or anybody else, perhaps, outside of his immediate family and relatives. Mr. Countiss read a brief biographical sketch of the departed in which it was brought out that he was a minister's son and that he grew up in an atmosphere of Christian piety. Dr. Countiss stated that he was at college a part of the time with Mr. Tucker and that he was one of the most consistently religious young men that he ever knew. He paid a fine tribute to his loyalty to his friends and to his ability to bring things to pass. He stated that he doubted that there was a more influential man in the North Mississippi conference when it came to getting men interested in propositions and in getting their cooperation. He said that Mr. Tucker was essentially a man's man, yet the ladies of the churches which he served admired his ability and his frankness and unalloyed devotion to what he thought was right. Mr. Countiss was followed by O. F. Lawrence, J. C. Wilson, R. W. Sharp and Edgar Underwood, all of whom spoke of Mr. Tucker in words of tenderness and of how they esteemed him both as a churchman and as a friend.

Billups Perfects R. R. Crossing Gate

Grenadian Builds Automatic Electric Crossing Gate Designed to Overcome Every Objection. Every Detail Appears Complete.

W. A. Billups, 25, of Grenada, has just completed building of a full-sized working model of an electric crossing gate, invented and patented some time ago by him. The gate has been so designed to overcome any objection that might arise and to satisfactorily answer any question that might be asked by railroad officials or signal engineers and the inventor seems to have achieved his aim in this respect since the gate appears to be complete in every particular. Billups says that it is the only automatic electric crossing gate on the market today and that trains taking sidetracks will not interfere in any manner with its intended purpose.

The gate is operated by a relayed block circuit and is closed and opened when contact is made by the train a half or three-quarters of a mile from the crossing. When a train reaches the contact point, the two arms of the gate are automatically lowered to a horizontal position, two bells are set to ringing in the stands that support the arms and a red stop light on each arm in the center of the crossing is turned on. When the train has passed the crossing, the circuit is broken through the relay, allowing the arms to return to an upright position by gravity weights, the lights are automatically cut off and the bells cease ringing.

Should a vehicle be caught between the two gates as they are lowered, it may safely pass through as the arms have flexible joints near the supporting frames; it requires seven seconds for the arms to reach the lowered position and should the vehicle reach the crossing after they start down, it may make the crossing safely; when being lowered the arms travel at a moderate speed and cannot damage a vehicle or its occupants should they come in contact while descending as they descend apparently without weight or force.

The Billups gate has proved to

TRAIN SCHEDULES CHANGE EFFECTIVE NEXT SUNDAY

Several changes in the time card of the Central passenger train are to go into effect March 17, at the Grenada station. The extent of the changes are known to the railroad officials but those who should familiarize themselves with the new schedules.

NO EXTRA SESSION, PREDICTS 'LOOKER'

Thinks Governor Got Fill at Recent Session. Jackson Correspondent Discusses Many Things of State and National Interest.

Editor Grenada Sentinel:

Now that we have a new president and that Mexico has another revolution, and Rockefeller has played his hand well against Stewart, and that Mussolini has fixed the rope according to his holiness' liking, and that the Jackson Daily News and Brown of the insane hospital commission and secretary of the press association have started a verbal row, and that Pat Harrison is coming home to make a few speeches in which he will tell us about some of the meanderings of Republican politicians and high officials at Washington, and that Gov. Bilbo turned loose a verbal barrage on President Hoover, after having gone to Washington to see Mr. Hoover "inducted into office," and that the Mississippi river is again reaching for the danger stage, and that Jackson is growing twice as rapidly as any other two or three cities in the state, and that new buildings here are everywhere evident, thought I would take my typewriter and hurry off a few lines for your good paper so that you may know that I am at least trying to keep my mouth shut when it ought to be closed and yet that I remember my obligation to you to give you the impressions of an "onlooker" in Jackson now and then. So here I come.

"They say" Gov. Bilbo is going to call the legislature in extraordinary session again soon, but I opine that the Governor—not so much kick—or perhaps I would be more accurate to state, "kicking"—out of the recent session that he is halting about what to do. Grover Cleveland said of congress while he was president on one occasion, "I have congress on my hands," and no doubt our Governor feels that the lower house of the Mississippi legislature is on his hands.

The Governor feels at times perhaps about the lower house of the Mississippi legislature like the man up a tree who got hold of a wild cat and wanted help to turn the varmint loose.

From what leaks into Jackson, the Executive does not stand any better with the majority of the membership of the lower house than he did when the recent session adjourned. The truth is the Governor appears to have lost his standing with the membership of the lower house. Likewise the information that comes into Jackson from the four quarters of the state is that the lower house is resolutely and irrevocably set against any highway bill that carries a provision to appoint by any method the commissioners. Some are apparently refusing to see this, but it has been said that none are so blind except those who just refuse to see.

The state is witnessing friendly tilts between some of the state officials and many are wondering about the legislative investigations now being carried on which involve the attorney general, the former head of the state tax commission, Cecil Imms, and the state highway commission. The rounds thus are about a stand off so far as the attorney general and the ex-head of the tax commission go. The former tax commission head made what he says is a correct statement (Continued on page 4)

OFFERS MORE BARGAINS

The wonderful bargains in various items of furniture usually offered every week-end by the Revell Furniture Company are coming to be looked forward to by the people of this section for they have learned from experience that when Revell says it's a bargain, they'll find that it's true.

Outstanding among the offerings for this week one might say that the walnut and mahogany finished tables, which originally sold for $15.00 and are offered now at $9.95 are predominant. Then there are some console mirrors that are going for $1.95 which should appeal to the ladies. The biggest bargain of all is an $85.00 value for $79.50—link of it! But if The Sentinel goes on its advertisement which appears on page 5 of this issue and which should be carefully studied by every reader of this paper for one may find listed in the bargain offerings just what he or she has been wanting for a long time.

BODY JESS WINDHAM INTERRED IN GRENADA

Many Pay Tribute to Memory of Dead Flier Who Lost Life in Crash Friday with Ferrell of Greenwood and Daniels of Memphis.

Funeral services for Capt. Jesse Windham, who lost his life in an airplane crash two miles north of Oakland shortly after 11 o'clock Friday morning, March 8, were held from the Central Baptist church in Grenada Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. J. W. Lee, former pastor of the church, conducting the services, assisted by Rev. E. R. Henderson, present pastor, Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., of the First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. R. A. Cooper, of Blue Mountain. Rev. Mr. Lee spoke feelingly of incidents in the babyhood and boyhood of the dead aviator. He told of baptizing him as a baby and of taking him into the church as a mere boy. He took up later happenings and told of his volunteering for service in his country's fighting forces during the great war, enlisting with the air service. Jesse's devotion to his mother, sisters and other loved ones was pointed out as one of his outstanding traits.

After the services at the church the remains were carried to Odd Fellows Cemetery where they were lowered into their last resting place. Pallbearers were Eli M. Whitaker, J. E. Shaw, Jr., and F. C. Romberger, of Grenada, and Sam Montgomery, Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Pepper, of Greenwood. During the funeral hour, Capt. Vernon C. Omie, president of the Mid-South Airways, Inc., of Memphis, gave the farewell salute of aviator friends to their dead comrade. He soared over Grenada in his plane, executed the dip, the slow wheel, the long dive and then the slow climb back into the heavens. Sunday morning, Sam Montgomery, who learned to fly under Jesse Windham's instruction, piloted his plane over Odd Fellows Cemetery, dropping flowers on his friend's grave.

Jesse Windham was born 32 years ago in Grenada, the son of the late J. M. and Mrs. Louise A. Windham. He received his diploma from the Grenada High School with the class of 1916. After his graduation he remained in Grenada until the outbreak of the war when he enlisted in the air service and after being trained at Park Field, Memphis, he was assigned to duty in the canal zone. After the war, he bought a plane and barnstormed throughout the south. At the time of his death he was chief pilot of the Tri-State Aviation Co. (Continued on page 4)

Forestry Unit Here For Series Programs

Forest Preservation to Be Brought Home to Grenada County People by Lectures and Picture Shows in Various Schools of County.

The Mississippi unit of the Southern Forestry Project began its schedule of moving picture shows and lectures in Grenada county Thursday, and in the ten days period devoted to this county, will reach all of the available schools with programs on forest conservation.

The Southern Forestry Project, which is sponsored by the American Forestry Association cooperating with the Mississippi Forest Service, strives to bring to the people of the state a better idea of forest preservation and forest management, so that Mississippi may continue to be a leader in the growing and manufacturing of lumber and other forest products.

In Grenada county, there are many acres of land, unsuitable for ordinary farming purposes, but ideally suited for growing a timber crop. Some of the steep hill-sides where the timber has been removed, are washing badly, carrying to the streams and rivers, a heavy burden of silt and soil, and worst of all, leaching out valuable fertilizing elements.

"In this section," Earl T. Taylor, unit director of the project, states, "the worst enemy of young and old trees and pastures is fire. The custom of burning the woods and pastures is costing the taxpayers of Grenada county many dollars each year, killing off young trees, slowing up the growth of the older trees and depriving cattle and other livestock of the many nutritious grasses and pasture plants."

The project truck with the full motion picture equipment, literature, posters, and handbooks, and operated by J. B. Toler, began work on Thursday and the following is a list of schools where it was announced that programs would be had: Calvary School on Thursday night at 6:30; Gore Springs School at 7:00 p. m. on Friday; Holcomb School, Hardy School, Kirkman School, Nebo School, and the Grenada Schools. Other schools will be visited and local arrangements made for programs.

MRS. PROUDFIT'S AUNT DIES AT HOME IN SARDIS

Mrs. Eugene Proudfit was summoned to Sardis Thursday morning on account of the death of her aunt, Miss Emma Duval, which occurred that morning. Miss Duval, who was 70 years of age, had been in poor health for a long time, having some time ago suffered a stroke of paralysis. Her death was not unexpected. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Proudfit in her loss.

Cunningham Coming For Sermon Series

Former Pastor of Grenada Presbyterian Church to Begin Series of Discourses Here April 2. Now Located in Bristol, Tenn.

The community as a whole will welcome the announcement that Rev. J. R. Cunningham is to deliver a series of sermons in the First Presbyterian Church, commencing Tuesday evening, April 2. Dr. Cunningham was pastor of the local church for several years, leaving here in 1925 to accept a call to the church in Gainesville, Fla. He is now pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Bristol, Tenn. The doctor's degree has been conferred upon him since leaving Grenada.

Dr. Cunningham was one of the most popular pastors to ever serve a Grenada church. He was dearly beloved, not only by the members of his own congregation, but by those of other churches as well. He is a scholarly man, without austerity, he is an able minister and a high-class Christian gentleman in every respect. He is deeply consecrated and is one of God's noblemen. His many friends in Grenada will join in extending to him a most cordial reception.

On the evening of Easter Sunday, March 31, the Presbyterians will begin a series of services preparatory to the formal opening of their new Sunday School building, which is just being completed. The first service will be a service in which the other churches will join. There will be no sermon at that time, the combined choirs of the city uniting in presenting a musical program. On Monday evening, April 1, one of the local pastors will preach and, on Tuesday evening, Dr. Cunningham will continue the series which will close with the official opening of the new building.

ACCEPTS EPISCOPAL CALL

Newport, Ark., March 12.—The Rev. J. H. Boosey, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Newport, Ark., tendered his resignation Monday, effective April 1. The Rev. Mr. Boosey came to Newport from Meridian, Miss., three years ago, and has accepted the pastorate of All Saints Church at Grenada, Miss. The minister is at present at Memphis, where his little daughter is receiving treatment at one of the hospitals in that city. He will preach his first sermon in Grenada April 7.

DR. AVENT TO BE ABSENT

Will Attend Clinic in New York City Several Weeks.

Dr. J. K. Avent expects to leave about April 1st to be gone a month, or maybe six weeks. He is to take a special course in surgery at one of the medical schools of New York City.

Dr. Avent has deservedly established a record as a surgeon that places him among the leading members of his profession. Aside from his professional life, he is a well informed, high class Christian gentleman and one who is ready to aid and support any worthy movement in the community.

In view of Dr. Avent's contemplated absence, it might be well for those who think they may need the attention of a general surgeon to consult him at an early day. Of course the hospital will be run just as usual, and every needed care and attention will be given the sick and afflicted.

Dr. Avent is to be commended for his plans to do some special work in surgery at the New York institution, regarded as one of the best in the whole country. His determination to go is but another evidence that he intends to let no opportunity pass to equip himself to be second to none and to keep abreast of the best in his profession. His efforts in this regard should and will no doubt be thoroughly appreciated by the medical profession of this territory and the public generally. Furthermore, it will serve as a fine tonic in the way of rest and recreation, for there is hardly any profession which is a heavier grind on the nerves of its active members than that of the busy medical practitioner. The man who has to do with the life and health of his fellowman has an awful responsibility, and one that the medical world fully appreciates.

Mrs. Avent and the two children will accompany the doctor. They will have an opportunity to see the great sights of the greatest city in all the world.

At 6:30 Thursday the entire delegation was to meet in the large banquet hall to partake of refreshments furnished by the members of the DeWitt Clinton Chapter and prepared by the ladies of the local chapter of the Eastern Star.

Friday the grand chapter and council will convene at which time the special degree of Order of High Priesthood will be given to those who desire to receive it.

The local chapter, under the leadership of its high priest, Dennis Parks, and the local council, with H. H. Heath as its master, are pushing forward all the organized forces for the making of the convocation and the assembly of the grand bodies the best and most successful in the history of Mississippi. More than one hundred delegates have arrived and it was expected by Thursday evening's session that at least two hundred delegates and visiting brethren would be present.

ANTS CAPTURE NEW TOWNS

A. & M. College, Miss.—The discovery of the Argentine Ant during the past week at Duck Hill in Montgomery County, and at Dossville in Leake County, brings the total number of infested towns in Mississippi to almost 140, according to the State Plant Board. The infestation at Dossville is the first one known in Leake County, while in Montgomery County the ants are also present at Winona.

The Plant Board states that the constant spreading of the Argentine Ant is seriously menacing the future agricultural prosperity of Mississippi, and unless it is soon checked by state-wide action the infested area will become too (Continued on page 4)

Ex-Soldiers To Hear Department Officers

Ex-Servicemen Urged to Hear Officials at Mayor's Office Next Tuesday Night. Will Tell of Benefits Provided by Government.

W. D. Owens, state commander of the American Legion, together with Robert Morrow, state adjutant, will be in Grenada next Tuesday night to address the ex-servicemen of Grenada county at 7:30 at the mayor's office. They have some information of importance to every man who saw service in the late world war and they will impart some facts that The Sentinel ventures to say are unknown to ten per cent of the ex-servicemen. For instance, few know that the United States government will give them free hospitalization—from transportation to the hospital, with medical and surgical attention while there, to transportation back home—no matter whether the illness is incident to military service or not. This is just one of the many things they have to tell Grenada county ex-soldiers about. All they have to say will be well worth knowing and they should be greeted by a representative gathering of former service men when they come here.

Every ex-serviceman in Grenada county is invited and urged to be here that night—Tuesday, March 19, 7:30 o'clock at the mayor's office. They should learn something to their advantage.

SAVING THE TREES.

The national foresting organization is sending out much literature with the idea of cultivating the importance in the minds of the general public of not only saving the trees but of planting more trees. The states are being enlisted in the crusade for forest preservation.

This country has been worse than prodigal in the slaughter of trees. Mississippi is one of the most guilty ones in this particular. Not so many years ago, nothing was thought of cutting a valuable tree, that would now market for fifteen to twenty dollars, to catch a coon that had been "treed".

There was no thought of protest by one's neighbor if he chanced to cut a tree for boards or for rails on the neighbor's lands. Farms were cleared, in many instances hillsides, upon which timber was slaughtered that was far more valuable than the land. Hundreds of millions upon hundreds of millions of feet of timber of every marketable kind have been cut during the past twenty-five years which has resulted in almost denuding some sections of everything except the bushes. The point has been reached where the government sees the necessity of stepping in and undertaking not only to save the idle slaughter of trees, but to educate the public to the importance of keeping trees.

Theodore Roosevelt said on one occasion "A people without children would face a hopeless future; a country without trees is almost as helpless; forests that are so used that they cannot renew themselves will soon vanish, and with them all their benefits.

"When you help to preserve our forests or plant new ones you are acting the part of good citizens."

We dislike to indict our own community, but it seems to us that Grenada has greatly sinned within the past few years in the slaughter of many of the beautiful shade trees that have adorned our yards and our streets and that were planted by our fathers and mothers and left by them as one of the coveted heritages of the present generation.

It takes a lifetime to grow a shade tree. A ruthless hand can destroy one in a few minutes.

There is nothing that adds more to the dignity, the charm, the beauty, the restfulness and the contentment of a home than well ordered shade trees. They interpret the voice of the winds. They mitigate the rays of the noonday sun. They catch a melody of the atmosphere that nothing else ever did or can do. They bring comfort and ease and serve to rest the tired limb and brow. They are a progeny of Nature which stand as sentinels around the home and speak words of adoration and praise wherever they may be.

In the reckoning, we are persuaded that many of us around Grenada are going to listen to the inquiry about the beautiful trees that were wantonly cut in our lovely town.

Aside from any sentiment, the time has come when it is sound business to take care of all trees. A country without trees is like the creek which has ceased to flow because its waters are drying. Trees serve a thousand purposes besides that of beauty and shade. They keep the earth from washing. They check the flow of unusual waters and rains and thereby minimize the rise of creeks and rivers. They fertilize the soil. They lubricate mother earth, as it were, in numerous ways that but few of us have learned to appreciate.

Grenada has no more trees that should fall under the woodman's ax. Voices that are now hushed and still but are yet audible to listening ears carry the message, "Save my tree".

"Woodman, spare that tree!
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now.

"Twas my forefather's hand
That placed it near his cot;
There, woodman let it stand,
Thy axe shall harm it not!

That old familiar tree
Whose glory and renown
Are spread o'er land and sea,
And wouldst thou hew it down?

Woodman, forbear thy stroke!
Cut not its earth-bound ties;
O spare that aged oak,
Now towering in the skies!

When but an idle boy
I sought its grateful shade;
In all their gushing joy
Here too my sisters played.

My mother kissed me here;
My father pressed my hand—
Forgive this foolish tear,
But let the old Oak stand!

My heart-strings round thee cling,
Close as thy bark, old friend!
Here shall the wild bird sing
And still thy branches bend.

Old tree! the storm still brave!
And, Woodman, leave the spot;
While I've a hand to save,
Thy axe shall hurt it not!"

Anyhow, things have come to a sad pass in a civilized country when it becomes necessary for its president in an inaugural speech that is heralded to the wide world to be compelled to devote most of it to law enforcement.—Gulfport Guide.

When an individual gets head-over-heels in debt and makes up his mind to get out, his first and most sensible thing is to reduce expenses. Not so with a county or state, according to some people's reasoning.—Winston County Journal.

HOW TO GET LAW FOR ROAD BUILDING.

As Al Smith was wont to say in his speeches in the recent presidential campaign, "according to our way of thinking" the way, and the only way, to make certain of a permanent road bill passing the lower house of the present Mississippi legislature is to frame the bill to provide for the election of the highway commissioners by a vote of the people.

It is unnecessary, so far as the purposes of this editorial are concerned, to argue that this is best or that it would be better to have the commissioners appointed. It seems to us, however, that those who are fixed in their purposes to have the commissioners elected, have the best of the argument if we take into consideration that officials of far more importance than highway commissioners are chosen by the people. The governor, United States senators, the chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court and circuit and chancery judges, all get their commissions direct from the people, hence the query naturally follows, "Why appoint highway officials, men who are to handle millions of dollars of money; why not make these officials answerable directly to those who are taxed to furnish the funds which these officials are to spend rather than make them answerable to one man?" The question, measured in the light of present day public opinion and experience, cannot be negatively answered.

Hence it would appear that those who are contending otherwise and who manifest such zeal for permanent road building, should be able to recognize a stubborn fact when they meet it in the road, and that they would announce their purpose to accept the condition as it is, for it is "a condition and not a theory" that confronts Mississippi on this very important question.

With the election proviso mentioned in the bill, we believe a limited annual bond issue would be provided, one that the annual receipts for road building would practically take care of.

Unquestionably the time has arrived, it is past that time, that Mississippi should enter on a permanent road building plan, one that would substitute concrete or something else, for the hazardous, expensive and ever annoying graveled road.

There can be no debate about the excessive wear and tear on cars which come of the graveled road—and it has very nearly reached the point that every family owns a car.

Besides the excessive expense on the upkeep of cars, graveled roads take a heavy toll on human life, therefore every sound reason suggests that the quicker the state abandons its dependence upon gravel for permanent roads, the quicker it will enter on that business policy that the good business man adopts relative to his own affairs.

Graveled highways have served their day. They have been used as crusaders. They have not been used in vain, and in most cases graveled roads can be used as a permanent road bed for more durable highways.

Money should not be piled up in the state treasury like a stack of bricks for road building. A surplus makes waste and graft too easy. Let the money be provided as it can be used wisely and economically. Millions of dollars have already been wasted on road building in Mississippi. Possibly nobody is especially to blame for it.

There are too many whose zeal for roads causes them to be willing to accept any sort of plans and to forget all about the cost, if they can attain certain ends. But there is an awakening all over the state as to high taxes and the ever increasing toll demanded by the tax-gatherer.

Let us start permanent highway building but let us not go in blindfolded. A bill can be framed and ought to be passed that will meet the conservative and tax paying demand of the state.

PERRY MAKES VALUABLE OBSERVATIONS.

The Sentinel gladly gave space to the communication of Mr. J. B. Perry which appeared last week. We solicited a statement from him relative to the trip to Washington to which he referred. It would be well if such leading business factors and well poised men as Mr. Perry would avail themselves more frequently of newspaper space to elucidate matters of public interest.

He is correct as to the tariff. Every manufacturer in the country is trying "to get his'n". Hence, we appreciate the force of the view expressed by Mr. Perry which is in effect "if everybody else is going to get governmental protection through the tariff, the farming interests, indeed the whole South, had as well get some of the spoils".

But when we reflect on a governmental condition that makes such aims and promptings possible, it looks bad for the country.

A tariff for other than revenue, except in isolated instances, and these are few indeed, is undemocratic, unsound, and contrary to the spirit of our government. The business that cannot thrive without putting its hands into its neighbor's pockets should cease.

The protective tariff has piled up wealth in the hands of the eastern manufacturer until today over 80 per cent of the wealth of the country is confined to less than 20 per cent of the territory of the United States. It looks bad. America boasts of her prowess. She does things while the balance of the world is thinking about how to do them, and it does seem that with an ocean 3,000 miles wide and all of our boasted machinery and enterprise, we should have reached the point where we can manufacture here at prices that will compete with the world. Every cent collected by the tariff is passed on to the consumer. Why, the shoe manufacturers of the country were before the same committee Mr. Perry was, asking for an increased tariff on shoes and, on being quizzed, admitted that only one per cent of the shoes sold in this country were made outside of the United States.

We are not finding fault with the position of the oil mills as expressed by Mr. Perry. No doubt under similar circumstances we would act as the oil mill interests are endeavoring to do. Self protection is the first law of Nature.

Speaking for the oil mill interests, Mr. Perry assured the Congressional committee that the tariff tax asked for would be given the farmer in better prices. He further stated that the farmers of the country were in a bad way financially.

But we repeat, are we not in a bad way when legitimate business enterprises feel compelled to take steps that they really do not endorse as a matter of self-protection?

JESSE WINDHAM PAID THE PRICE.

The tragic death of Jesse Windham and his two companions, Morgan Ferrell of Greenwood and Bill Daniels of Memphis, is but another lesson showing that leaders often sacrifice their lives in an endeavor to carry to whatever perfection man can attain that which has been projected.

Jesse Windham paid the price of being an officer in the aviation organization under the direction of the United States government. He had risen to the place where he was regarded as one of the leading flying instructors. Mr. Ferrell was a young man of fine business ability and of exceptional promise, and had only recently been licensed to fly an airplane. Mr. Daniels, only about 19 years old, was an aviation pupil of Captain Windham. He gave promise of making a fine man.

The sudden and shocking death of these young men brought an unusual shock to Grenada and more or less to the whole country. Captain Windham was born and reared here. He was a son of the late J. M. Windham and Mrs. Windham. He enlisted in the air service during the World War. His rise to the position he held was a matter of pride to Grenada. In a sense he was a hero. He met death on duty.

Badly Run-Down

"Six years ago, I was very much run-down," says Mrs. Olympia Kight, of Lovett, Ga. "I did not sleep well, and was weak and restless. I dragged around the house with not enough strength to do my daily tasks. I worried a lot, and this disturbed state of mind reacted on my health."

"I had often read of Cardui, so I thought I would try it. I soon began to improve after I had taken Cardui for a while. It was astonishing how much I picked up. I slept better; my appetite improved, and that awful dragging-down feeling left me. I was so much better that I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well."

Cardui has been used by women for over 50 years. For sale by all druggists.

GIVES DAIRYMEN ADVICE ON FEEDING OF CATTLE

Editor Sentinel:—In view of the fact that certain salesmen are about the state selling a certain brand of Mineral Mixture for dairy cattle at so high a price that to my mind no ordinary cow will pay for it, I would like to give them the following message, taken from the greatest authority on care and feeding of the dairy cow:

TEACHERS EXAMS SET

Examinations for white teachers will be held at the courthouse April 4, 5, 6 and for colored teachers on April 11, 12, 13. If you expect to take examinations at this time please notify the county superintendent at least one week in advance.

Improve Business By Paving our roads

Take a trip over the country and study the effect of paved roads upon the business—upon the prosperity of people generally. It is a recognized fact that good transportation stimulates trade—and you can see this for yourself: trade follows the paved road, where motor travel is economical, comfortable and dependable.

Many fine Mississippi communities on our trunk system because they lack the benefits of paved highways, are at a distinct disadvantage. Their transportation costs are high, and the maintenance expense on these main highways serving them is all out of reason. Even though the roads near your town may be paved, you have to help pay for the upkeep cost of gravelled trunk-line highways in all parts of the State.

Most Mississippians think that a plan should be devised to get all of these needed paved roads within the next five or six years, instead of in the next twenty or twenty-five years at the present rate of progress.

This can be accomplished by adopting a sensible scheme of finance—a bond issue—the principal and interest to be retired by our present gasoline and automobile privilege taxes. It will not be necessary to increase property taxes in this State to have these roads, and we can have them now. If Mississippi can pave her trunk-line highways without increasing taxes, isn't that the business-like thing to do?

thority on care and feeding of the dairy cow:

The feeding requirements of dairy cows are not fully understood or, it might be better to say, the factors which govern the converting of mineral substances of the feed into body uses and all their functions are not well understood. It is comparatively a new subject and the positive knowledge is limited.

Some speculative knowledge is in the process of being proved and the future alone can tell what new things science will disclose. How much of mineral substance, which ones to feed, how and when to feed them, are the questions that can not be fully answered. It is timely, however, to point out the important known facts and to suggest practices that will help to safeguard dairy herds from the known effects of mineral deficiency.

Of all the mineral elements found in the cow's body and used for making milk, it is thought the ones most likely to be deficient in the rations are calcium (lime), phosphorus, sodium, chlorine, and in certain sections, iodine. It has been found that feeding rations extremely low in calcium and phosphorus results in the reproduction of dead calves or even abortions and the calves that are born alive are frequently too weak to survive. In high producing cows it causes a weakening of the cow's bones, a condition known as osteoporosis. It causes a reduction in milk flow. Sodium and chlorine are the components of common salt. An experiment by Babcock and Carley of the Wisconsin Station shows that depriving cows of salt for extended periods of time brought about a complete breakdown with marked loss of appetite, listless eyes, rough coats, and a very rapid decline in live weight and yield of milk. In certain sections the lack of iodine in feeds and water causes goiter in calves.

The foregoing facts are evidences that mineral substances are needed by dairy cows, the dairy farmer is interested in knowing what to do about it. He is concerned mainly with what to feed, when to feed it, and how to feed it.

Please note the following and don't pay $15.00 per cwt. for it. The chief source of calcium in farm grown feeds is the legume hays. The chief source of phosphorus is in the grains and their by-products such as wheat bran, cottonseed meal, linseed meal, and middlings. So, supplies sodium and chlorine. Iodine, if needed, may be obtained from potassium iodide. The following feeding and management practice is recommended to safeguard cows from the effects of mineral deficiency.

(1) Include a legume hay for roughage, (2) balance the ration with suitable concentrates, (3) feed roughage to the limit of appetite and concentrates according to production is one pound concentrates to each three pounds milk. (4) provide salt, (5) give cows 6 to 8 weeks rest or dry period during which they feed them adequately to the extent that they will be in good condition when they freshen. For cows that produce 300 pounds of fat a year the above practice in most cases will suffice to meet their mineral requirements. The chief factors are the feeding of plenty of legume hay, the rest periods, and the adequate feeding when dry.

Green grass is known to influence mineral assimilation to a greater extent perhaps, than any other factor. From this it follows that the best time to build up any mineral depletion that may have occurred in the cow's body during the time on green grass when the cow is dry.

The same practice applies also higher producing cows but it is thought that even with this their mineral requirements are not fully met to supplement the ration a simple mineral mixture is recommended. The mixture is composed of equal parts by weight of salt, bone meal, and finely ground limestone. It may be self fed or 3 to 4 ounces given daily to each cow in her feed. It is advisable to feed the year round. There is no objection to feeding it to lower producing cows. The salt supplies the sodium and chlorine. The bone meal supplies calcium (lime) and phosphorus and the limestone supplies calcium. In sections where goiter in calves is experienced, it is recommended that a tablespoon of a solution of one ounce of potassium iodide in one gallon of water be sprinkled on the feed of each pregnant cow each day for at least the later half of the pregnancy period.

I do not think we need pay any attention to this last item for I think there is plenty of iron on these Mississippi hills. I do think though what the cows of the south need first and foremost is a stomach full of good roughage raised and saved right on the farm. Let us say good hay and corn staves. Then if our cows are not thrifty, with soft pliable hides and not hide bound let us then look further for the trouble.

Respectfully,
GEORGE F. KRAFT,

What TWIN IGNITION Does

THE New Nash Twin-Ignition motor has two big aircraft spark plugs for each cylinder, instead of the ordinary single plug, as you can see in the simplified diagram above.

Both plugs fire simultaneously. The gas vapor is ignited at two points instead of the usual one. One effect is quicker combustion, which produces more power, more speed, much faster acceleration.

Another result is, more uniform combustion, which helps to create the very noticeable smoothness and rhythm of Nash motor performance.

And still another result of Twin Ignition is more efficient combustion, which prevents wasted fuel.

With Twin Ignition, instead of single ignition, higher compression is practical, and the same Nash motor produces 9½ more horsepower, 5 miles an hour more speed, and 2 extra miles from every gallon of gasoline you buy.

AN UNUSUAL SCENE FOR GRENADA

This picture was taken by H. H. Heath, of Grenada, on Feb. 21, 1929, just north of the Y. & M. V. tracks west of the north end of Green Street and shows the trees weighted down with ice—very unusual for this section.

Jesse Windham made his home in Memphis with his mother, Mrs. Louise A. Windham, and his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Byrne, both of whom survive. Two other sisters also survive. They are Mrs. A. J. McCaslin, of Grenada, and Mrs. J. A. Armstrong, of Willow Springs, Mo.

When news of the fatal crash reached Grenada last Friday afternoon, the community was shocked beyond belief. It was hard to believe that Jesse Windham, known as one of the crack pilots of the south, could have lost his life in a crash-up. He had been a regular weekly visitor to Grenada in recent months where he had been conducting a school in flying. Morgan Ferrell, of Greenwood, who was piloting the ill-fated ship, too, was well-known in Grenada and Bill Daniels, the other occupant of the plane, had made frequent trips here with Windham.

The three were en route to Greenwood, via Grenada, when the fatal crash came. Ferrell, who had received his flying training under Windham and who had been given his pilot's license, was piloting the ship. Windham and Daniels were in the front cockpit. Although it never will be definitely known just how the accident occurred it is believed that something went wrong with the ship or that the rain and low fog were responsible for the crash. The force of the crash threw the gasoline tank from its fastenings, threw it against the heated motor, causing an explosion and setting fire to the wreckage. The bodies of the three men were burned beyond recognition. However, they were dead before the flames reached them, every bone in their bodies having been broken when the plane struck the earth.

Ferrell, who was 27 years of age, was manager of the Coca-Cola plant at Greenwood. He was one of the delta's city's most popular young business men and was liked by all who knew him. He had belonged to the Greenwood Rotary Club and was the organizer of the Greenwood Aviation Club. He took an active interest in Boy Scout work and was largely instrumental in keeping the movement alive in Greenwood. Besides his wife, Mrs. Lulu H. Ferrell, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Ferrell, of Chattanooga, Tenn. His body was forwarded to Chattanooga for burial.

Daniels was 19 years of age. His home was in Memphis with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Daniels. Bill Daniels was a fine young fellow. Those in Grenada who got to know him admired him greatly. He was regarded as having in him the makings of an excellent aviator and was destined to rank high in aviation circles. To the distressed loved ones of the three victims, The Sentinel tenders its sincerest and deepest sympathy.

rect showing his personal affairs, and if that be all and is correct, it seems that the committee is harking on a cold trail.

The question of getting the money from the people to take care of the appropriations already made by the legislature continues to be the biggest question discussed. What to tax and what not to tax is much in the public mind. And the matter of raising more taxes or changing tax laws always upsets to some degree that is usually termed "business".

Mississippi contains within her borders more "boosters" whose names take mighty little space on the tax rolls than any other state whose per capita wealth is any way near what hers is. The state is afflicted with many who urge and toil for appropriations without giving a serious thought as to where the money is coming from to take care of what is appropriated. There are numerous ones in the state telling everybody else how to do when in truth they have done very little themselves except to be exceedingly prominent at gabfests.

If Mississippi could adjourn her politics for about a half dozen years and think more in terms of what is best for the homes, the farms, the stores and the banks, daylight would be showing itself, her many problems would solve themselves.

Many who gather in Jackson are doing what has been done for the years after a new president comes in, they are talking about what to be expected and what this session may count on from him. Hoover made a good impression on the whole country, undoubtedly, by his inaugural speech. What he had to say about law enforcement and law observance has startled many people who are accustomed to drift along and just take things for granted. The president came very near saying that the man who buys bootleg liquor is equally guilty with the man who makes it.

Mississippi, I believe, is the one lone state in the whole Union where one is forbidden to buy whiskey for medicinal purposes. Somebody was heard to observe the other day in one of the local hotels that Mississippi usually furnishes a few misguided zealots who succeed in making the state ridiculous on divers occasions. The state is a prohibition state and would remain that way even were the question submitted to referendum. The state was one of the pioneers in prohibition, and knows much of all the demons that came of the saloon, however, there have been and is today, I reckon, a few who care little for the cause itself yet they capitalize the spirit and the work of others to further their own ambitions and ends. The truth is too often bartered to serve the present hour.

Senator Pat Harrison is looked for this week, and is expected to accept a few of the many invitations said to be coming to him to speak at which time he will no doubt express his desire to again represent Mississippi in the senate. The senator is regarded as one of the outstanding Democrats of the country and has served well his state and my guess is that the man who goes up against him will find that he is butting a brick ball.

cleaning away snow from the streets of many of the small towns and some of the cities. Fort Dodge, Iowa, is quite an attractive city of over 30,000. In Sioux Falls the snow was so deep you couldn't tell much about the place of 40,000 people. We were at the Baptist College in that city and saw the students hard at work. There were about three hundred of them and four splendid buildings. As we left the college that night we saw the Northern Lights, the Aurora Borealis. We enjoyed the sight of these lights, brightening the heavens above. It is said that these lights are reflections from the sun shining on the ice covered Arctic region.

From this city we went to Omaha, Nebraska. Here we found another city covered with snow. What a splendid progressive city it is! The most interesting sight there was Swift & Company's big plant. Our guide told us they killed daily 3,000 hogs, 3,000 sheep and 1,200 cows. As we were being shown through we saw a solid carload of hair that came from the hogs. We asked if it was to be destroyed and they said nothing was put into cushions for automobiles, buggies, etc. It was a pleasure to note the manner in which the 1,300 men worked—every man at his post of duty.

They have a big goat that leads the sheep to the slaughter. I had often read of this thing, but had never seen the goat at work before. The sheep were in a pen, from 100 to 150 in a section. The old goat, when the gate was opened and a passage cleared, would make his way to the trap door through which his victims would fall and as they reached the trap door the goat stepped up on a little platform, the sheep stepping on the door and falling to their death. Some trained goat he was. However, that is what the devil's goats are doing to God's sheep. To me it was a striking illustration. I never knew before that anything but men and worms would eat tobacco, but this old goat would chew tobacco, chew gum, eat candy; in fact he was such a pet that he was quite beside himself.

It is interesting to know that the capital of this company is $150,000,000, and last year their sales were $970,000,000. Every piece of meat is inspected by an agent of the government before it is wrapped or shipped. As we left Omaha it was snowing like wild fire and when we reached Chicago it was snowing harder than ever. You could scarcely see ten feet ahead of you. The Illinois Central Railroad is some system. Their men are the most accommodating I have ever seen on any railroad and I have traveled through every state in the union save six. I do not believe there is a train traveling the rails that is more attractive and gives better services than that daily special between Chicago and St. Louis. I take my hat off to the Illinois Central and its men. This trip has confirmed my conviction that the cheapest, best and fastest way to travel in the United States is by rail. From the observation cars on the rear you can see more than you can from an automobile. Then you are not worried to death about wrecks or some other fool coming around a sharp curve faster than you are going.

I might say that this trip was made possible by two of my friends, to whom I am much indebted. Having never seen the great snow drifts before it was quite a joy to take this winter trip. All my other visits have been in the summer time.

Very truly,
W. E. FARR.

large for practical eradication. Several places in Mississippi have already demonstrated that the ants can be eradicated at little cost, and the Plant Board is firmly convinced that a state-wide eradication campaign now will save the State many millions of dollars in the future.

Over 60 towns fought the ants during the past fall, but even with this large number of campaigns there were still about 75 places where the ants continued to spread unchecked. If the ants are not checked in these communities they will continue to spread in all directions and in time every property in the State will be infested with these pests. As a protection to the entire state, a policy of complete eradication must be adopted at an early date.

be safe, reliable, simple in construction and operation and its manufacturing cost is low. The gate can be built and installed at a cost of about $200 and with a lifetime of approximately fifteen years, it would seem that its cost is low compared to the insurance it would provide against accidents.

Interstate Commerce Commission figures show that in 1927 there were 206,533 unprotected crossings in the United States and during the period from 1920 to 1929 about 25,000 people lost their lives at railroad crossings and four times that number were injured. The matter of accidents at crossings has been the subject of many campaigns by railroad companies during the past few years and the public has seen line after line urging caution at crossings.

There is no question but that the Billups gate is destined to meet with marked success in being the means of saving many lives and preventing many accidents should it be adopted by the railroads of the nation.

Officials Airs Views ON DEMONSTRATORS

R. N. Brooks was right when he said that the supervisors were damned if they did and damned if they didn't.

I verily believe that if a supervisor appointed Matthew as road commissioner, Luke as driver, Mark as graderman, John as bridge-builder, the minor apostles as shovelmen and Judas Iscariot as "tote" water, many would cuss him for his lack of wisdom in making his appointments, and some of those working would cuss him because of too small wages.

But "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven". Respectfully,
W. W. WHITAKER.

DECISION REVERSED

U. S. Court Says Chinese Children May Attend White Schools.

Washington.—The Supreme Court today reversed judgment of Mississippi courts which refused to permit a Chinese child to attend a public school for white children and directed that state courts dismiss case as moot.

Council for the state told the court in an argument of the case that the student had passed the age of twenty-one and there was therefore no question requiring consideration. State laws provide schools only for those between the ages of five and twenty-one. Joe Tin Lun was excluded from public school for white children in Dublin Consolidated School District in Coahoma county, Miss. His father protested but school authorities were sustained by state courts in their ruling that the Chinese youth must attend a school for colored children. The father sought a review by the highest court on grounds that he was being deprived of rights guaranteed by the constitution.

Mr. Cecil, in his capacity as lecturer, teacher and school superintendent, has come in close contact with the reading needs of people in many parts of the country, particularly of boys and girls. He has lectured before grade schools and high schools in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and the Middle West; he has addressed State Normal Schools and Teachers' Colleges in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Minnesota.

He is now doing intensive promotion of school and public libraries in Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and other southern states.

Mr. Cecil delivered three lectures in Grenada last Thursday, one at Grenada College and two in the high school auditorium.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

Notice to Intervene

THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI.

To all persons interested in Federal Aid Project No. 147 B, of Grenada County, Mississippi, either as contractors, laborers, journeymen or material-men.

You are summoned to appear before the chancery court of the county of Grenada in said state, on the 3rd Monday in April, 1929, to defend or intervene in the suit No. 4423 in said court of J. D. Crenshaw et al. vs. G. J. Pennington et al., wherein you are defendants or parties in interest. This the 14th day of March, 1929.

MRS. JESSIE THOMASON, Clerk.

GENERAL HAPPENINGS

Mexico is entertaining another revolution. It is a cold day in August when some of the Mexicans are not doing some sort of "luting".

The committee named by the speaker of the Mississippi legislature to study hard surfaced road building with the view of submitting a bill to the legislature has invited Gov. Bilbo to submit the kind of bill he wants.

Jackson has just voted several hundred thousand dollars in bonds to take care of its increased number of school children, children largely of its new citizens.

President Hoover is moving cautiously. The biggest thing he has on hand it seems is the question of "farm relief". Congress has been called to assemble April 15 for the purpose of considering the farm question and some tariff schedules.

The suit carried up from Bolivar County through the state courts and then to the U. S. supreme court which was brought in the interests of a Chinese youth who was denied attendance in the white schools of that county was dropped from the supreme court files just the other day for the reason that it had been pending so long—seven years—that the boy had now got beyond school age.

Press dispatches state however that the court stated that an Oriental could not be lawfully denied entrance into the white public schools of the state. Ex-Gov. Brewer and E. C. Brewer represented the Chinaman.

Up the country reports bring the story of more ice and snow than there has been for many years which leads many to fear that when this snow and ice begin to melt and find their way into the channels of the Mississippi river there will be reasons for watching the Mississippi levees.

Memphis is running Chicago a close race for crime and especially holdups.

CLUB INTERESTED IN LIBRARY FOR GRENADA

The 20th Century Club of Grenada has been giving quite a deal of consideration lately to the matter of at least laying the foundation for a library for Grenada. The club has made requisitions for literature and has been giving most careful attention. Last week Mr. Cecil, of the national library association, lectured both at Grenada College and at the city schools.

POWER COMPANY EMPLOYEES FORM SAFETY SERVICE CLUB

Employees of the Mississippi Power and Light Company, about forty in number, held a joint meeting in the directors room of the Grenada Bank Tuesday afternoon and organized the SAFETY SERVICE CLUB of the Mississippi Power and Light Company's northeastern division. The group was favored with several interesting talks from different officials from Arkansas and Louisiana bringing to light various themes of service which go to make up a real live organization of fellow-workers and their most efficient service to the company and to the public.

The club, which will hold its regular meeting the first Tuesday of every month, will be directed by C. W. Dunn, manager at Winona, as chairman, H. C. West, local manager at Grenada, vice chairman, and W. R. Terry, manager at Coffeeville as secretary.

The company officials have hopes of a real live club and each member of the Grenada Club expects to fulfill the company's desire in rendering more efficient service to his fellow workers and others that have to do with their line of business.

BI. KELYS ARE FREED OF GUN FIGHT CHARGES

The preliminary trial of Winston, Jake, Fred and Tillman Blakeley, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Wheeler Johnson, on Monday, Feb. 4, in Germany's store about 6 miles east of Duck Hill, was held in the courthouse at Winona Wednesday and resulted in the discharge of the defendants without bond.

Mayor Henry Billingsley presided at the hearing. The state was represented by F. M. Glass, while the defendants were represented by J. W. Conger and W. T. Knox.

Defense attorneys presented a model of the store and witnesses were required to show on it just where various persons in the store at the time of the killing were standing or sitting.

Those called to the witness stand were Mrs. Viola Germany, owner of the store where the killing took place; her daughter, Hazel Germany; Richard Latham, 15, school boy, who was shot in the right leg; Matthew Clark, driver of the school truck, which was being shot; Robert M. Neal, who testified to seeing Wheeler Johnson with a pistol the morning of his death; D. Wilkinson, who sold ammunition to Johnson the day of the killing.

The Blakeley boys all testified that Johnson started the shooting and that he was shot only after Latham had received a bullet in his stomach. No evidence was produced to show that any words had passed between Johnson and the Blakeley boys before the shooting and the case was dismissed by the judge.

MANY VISIT BIG STORE ON FORMAL OPENING DAY

The inclement weather of Tuesday failed to dampen the desire of hundreds of people in Grenada and surrounding territory who wanted to visit Townes-Kimbrough Co., one of Grenada's newest stores, on its formal opening day. Throughout the day, two beautiful girls handed out hundreds of exquisite carnations to visitors and excellent music entertained the crowds. At 4:30 the store gave away a pair of shoes to one of their guests who had called on them during the day.

Those who visited the store marveled at the changes that had been wrought. One could easily tell that experienced and expert craftsmen had been at work for the interior of the place presented altogether a different picture. Changes in various features, the addition of various new pieces of equipment and the work of decorators and finishers had made the interior a truly pretty sight to behold. The store is one that would do great credit to any town much larger in size than Grenada and its corps of affable and accommodating salespeople, together with the proprietors, added no little to the success of opening day. Guests were made to feel absolutely at home and they were shown through the big establishment by pleasant and courteous escorts.

The proprietors were much pleased with their opening and promise the people of this section that they will endeavor always to do their best to please them.

1929 RAINFALL TO DATE EXCEEDS THAT FOR 1928

The rains are descending. The ice and the snows up the country will soon begin to melt and then the old Mississippi river will swell until it is thought that the sea monsters lashed when got out upon the waters of the sea.

The Yalobusha river has been exceedingly tame this winter. But once has it been out of its banks, and then not a very great deal. The rainfall through the winter has been so even that there have been but few swollen streams, but the record thus far made by March seems to indicate that lost time is to be made up. The ground hog lied—if he, as the story is handed down, meant by not poking his nose out February 2, to give assurance that there would be an early spring. The little poem entitled, "Spring What are You Now Waiting?" that was used in the years ago in McGuffey's third reader suggests itself to some of those acquainted with that fine series of readers.

Enjoys Dinner.
The basket ball girls of Grenada School enjoyed a most delightful four course dinner last night at the Dixie Cafe. Nature basket balls served as cards and at each place were tiny little nut cups, filled with nuts and salted nuts.

Miss Hattie Hammond was mistress for the occasion. The talks were made by the five girls who are members of the team, namely: Misses Mary Ann Ashaw, Edna Jackson, captain of the team, Frances Carpenter, Mrs. White and Ruby Faye McKee. Miss Elizabeth Rose, business manager, made a few fitting remarks as did Miss Elizabeth Neill, coach. These were followed by Mr. "Happy" Hathorn, John Rundle, Misses Hattie Hammond and Katie Mae Dear, E. L. Betz, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gibson, Mrs. Willie May Du and Mr. J. D. Crenshaw. Miss Lucille McGrath and Ivy Bell, of Grenada College, made appropriate remarks in regard to athletics in schools.

During the evening's program, a silver basket ball was presented to each member of the team in token of the splendid record made by them. Out of the five girls scheduled, they won three. The following young ladies made the team: Miss Edna Jackson, captain, Miss Elizabeth Rose, business manager, Misses Mary Ann Ashaw, Adelaide Horton, Thea Betz, Ruby Faye McKee, Frances Carpenter, substitutes: Misses Peggy King and the and Ruth Gammon. Certain Classmates.
Miss Elizabeth Holder was the spring hostess to the members of the junior class of Grenada College, of which she is a member, Friday night. Shamrocks were used in profusion as decorations. The St. Patrick motif was carried out in the games played by ten tables of guests. Contests appropriate to the St. Patrick season, were carried out, which were most enjoyable. Attractive place cards were used designating the different tables, where the games were to be played. Miss Muriel McGor, received a green toy for progressing the most number of times.

Each girl was asked to write a program to her mother using only letters in the word "St. Patrick". These were read and caused great deal of merriment. A most delicious salad course and salted nuts were served by Miss Holder, assisted by Miss Carrie Mae Smith. Mrs. Holder graciously assisted her daughter in entertaining her guests. Besides the members of the class the following members of the college faculty were present: Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Countiss, Misses L. Lane, Lancy, Bale, Harris, Baker, Eads and Craig and Miss May Lillier, who is sponsor of the junior class.

She read an article on "The American church and the Negro" written by Bishop Gardner, native suffragan bishop of Siberia. Mrs. Wolfe told of her personal interview with the head of the New Orleans negro school, who was the first woman in the world to do prison reform work among the negro race. An Oklahoma Mother Says:

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I use it for mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home."

"When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is about the only medicine I have to take. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. I hardly see how I could keep house without Black-Draught. It has become a standby with us, in keeping the children and ourselves well."—Mrs. Luther Brassefield, Claremore, Okla.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for March 17

THE CHRISTIAN'S SABBATH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Matthew 12:1-8.
GOLDEN TEXT—For the Son of man is Lord even of the Sabbath day.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's day, Sunday.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's day, Sunday.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Keeping the Lord's Day.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Lord's Day in Modern Life.

The designation "Christian's Sabbath" is a misnomer. The word "Sabbath" has a definite meaning. It signifies rest, cessation from action. When God had finished the heavens and earth, He desisted from creative action (Gen. 2:1-3). Since God's creative work was completed in six days, He ceased from action on the seventh day, which was therefore called the Sabbath, or Rest day. Five definite objects may be assigned to the Sabbath:

1. To commemorate the work of creation (Gen. 2:3; cf. Ex. 20:11).
2. To keep alive the knowledge of the true God. Creation witnesses of a creator. Keeping the Sabbath in mind kept in mind the creation, and the creation made real the Creator.
3. A forward look to the time when man shall enjoy full fellowship with God (Heb. 4:1-10).
4. To Israel it was a sign of the covenant between them and God (Deut. 5:12-15).
5. It was made for man's well-being (Mark 2:27).

At least while man's earthly condition continues, the Sabbath is needed to keep a proper balance between his body and his soul.

1. The Fourth Commandment (Ex. 20:8-11).
1. Obligations enjoined (20:9, 10).
(1) Work through six days (v. 9).
The command to work six days is just as binding as the command to rest the seventh day. In fact, there can be no rest unless there first be work.

(2) Rest on the seventh day (v. 10).
There must be cessation from all work on the Sabbath. Since God gave the example and then sanctified the day, it should be kept holy. It was not only to give relief to the physical body but to be a time when man's thought would be turned to God. It was designed to keep fresh in his mind the consciousness of God and His mercies. The human spirit should be refreshed by the study of God's Word.

2. How this commandment may be broken.
(1) By engaging in labor or pursuing business interests on this sacred day.
(2) By devoting it to amusements, since it was designed to keep fresh in mind the consciousness of God. To use it for amusements is to break the commandment.

(3) By making it a day of feasting. It frequently is set aside as an occasion for big dinners.
II. The Son of Man is Lord of the Sabbath (Matt. 12:1-8).
1. The hungry disciples plucking corn (v. 1).
This took place on the Sabbath day and became the occasion for criticism.

2. The Pharisees finding fault (v. 2).
They asserted that Christ's disciples were breaking the law, when in reality they were only violating the traditions with which the law was encumbered. The Lord's purpose in instituting the Sabbath was to conserve man's highest interest and contribute to his happiness. It is extremely unfortunate when human tradition is elevated above the Word of God.

3. Christ's reply to the cavils of the Pharisees (vv. 3-8).
In this reply He shrewdly answered the Pharisees and pressed His transcendent claim as to the dignity of His person. This claim moved them to plot His death. As to His claim, observe:

(1) He is greater than the greatest king (vv. 3, 4). David, when rejected, was forced to do that which was unlawful for him to do (Sam. 1). Because they had rejected the One greater than David, the plucking of the ears of corn became a necessity.

(2) He is greater than their sacrifice and priesthood (v. 5). If the priests, because of their position and services, could violate the Sabbath laws and be blameless, much more the One greater than they in performing His work of sacrifice and redemption for them should be considered guiltless. He was the true sacrifice and priest.

(3) He is greater than the temple (v. 6). The temple, with all its gorgeous rites and ceremonies, was typical of Christ. Much more then did He have the right to do what He did.

(4) He is greater than the Sabbath (v. 8). He is greater than the Sabbath because He is Lord of the Sabbath.

PETITION FOR PARDON

To His Excellency,
Honorable Theo. G. Bilbo,
Governor of The State of Mississippi:

We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of the State of Mississippi, hereby most respectfully petition Your Excellency to grant a full and complete pardon to John James Howard who was convicted at the January Term, 1928 of the Circuit Court of Grenada County, Mississippi and sentenced to serve a term of ten years on a charge of Arson.

We would respectfully show unto Your Excellency that since the incarceration of Howard in the penitentiary, he has made a model prisoner, and for that reason, was soon made a trusty and assigned to the duty of guarding the other convicts, not trustees, while at work in the field; that on the 12th day of February, 1929, while thus engaged as a trusty on duty as a guard, one Sandy Allred, a reputed desperate convict, attempted to escape, and in so doing, detached a single tree from his plow and advanced upon the driver with the statement that he was going home; while thus advancing upon the driver, who was not armed at the time, and in repeating the statement above mentioned, the said Howard, acting upon instructions from the driver to stop him, fired upon the said Allred, wounding him, and thus preventing him from possibly seriously injuring or killing the driver, and also preventing his escape; that the said Howard has, in our opinion, been sufficiently punished, and we believe the ends of justice have been met and the law satisfied. And we further believe that if allowed his freedom, the said Howard will hereafter conduct himself above reproach and as a law-abiding citizen.

Respectfully submitted,
J. W. WILLIAMSON, Supt.
